

THREE PART DOCUSERIES

THE SILENCE BENEATH

Unprecedented in human history.

OVERVIEW:

GENRE: DOCUMENTARY

RUNNING TIME: EP1: 41MIN, EP2: 52MIN, EP3: 71MIN

LANGUAGES: ENGLISH, FRENCH, ITALIAN & JAPANESE (WITH ENGLISH SUBTITLES)

FOREIGN VERSIONS: SUBTITLES FOR THE FILM ARE AVAILABLE IN SPANISH, FRENCH, AND ITALIAN

FORMAT: HD

EXECUTIVE PRODUCED BY: MATT MARTYN, JON BERLINSKI
AND T. DOMINIC COCHRAN

PRODUCED BY: MATT MARTYN

DIRECTED BY: JON BERLINSKI & MATT MARTYN

ORIGINAL MUSIC: JUSTIN BELL

PRODUCTION COMPANY: AHPTIC PRODUCTIONS LLC

WEBSITE: WWW.THESILENCEBENEATH.COM

SYNOPSIS:

Nellie was born into privilege. She married into the unspeakable.

In Nellie's idyllic hometown, innocence came naturally; neither she nor her neighbors could see any trace of her husband's deceit. His betrayal pierced far deeper than their marriage and her cherished family... he had calculated a sinister plot to wipe their entire town off the map. Yet even that devastation was a mere prelude to an act no one could have imagined. The true horror lay in his final move—one aimed directly at their children.

Conflict builds with harrowing suspense, taking audiences through an experience with no parallels in human history.

Home and heart become battleground of the unfathomable. Our investigation uncovers one man's chilling betrayal of 45 lives.

EPISODES:

Episode 1

Nellie is adored by all in her hometown. Her rich, eccentric husband Andrew Kehoe appears generous—but beneath the surface, he's meticulously crafting a plan to erase the town from existence. His obsessive planning builds to a frenzy as the final day of school approaches. With the flip of a switch, a series of buildings ignite, spewing plumes of smoke to blot out the sun—all a distraction from the carnage he's yet to unleash.

Episode 2

While children laugh and learn on a bright spring morning, a clock ticks steadily in the basement below. Each second marches toward the unthinkable. And then—detonation. The schoolhouse shudders, collapsing in a thunderous explosion. Rescuers frantically try to save the innocents buried in the rubble—not knowing they themselves have now become targets. Kehoe, having transformed his entire vehicle into a mobile explosive device, prowls through town hunting down "enemies" with his rifle.

Episode 3

With his masterstroke of devastation unraveling as fast as his mind, Kehoe arrives at the school armed to the teeth. Stalking survivors as they scramble to save their children, upon finding his "arch nemesis," he unleashes an attack never before seen on Earth. A flood of outsiders overwhelms the town as Nellie's family desperately struggles to find her. Frightening shipments and hidden explosives wreak havoc for years to come, but the survivors dig deep to reveal a higher truth.

REVIEWS:

“Riveting. Soaring cinematography. The Great writer William Faulkner once wrote ‘History isn’t dead. It isn’t even past.’ That’s why this new docudrama is a cautionary tale of one man’s madness and the worst mass murder of children in American history.”

Bill Castanier

President, Historical Society of Greater Lansing

“A gripping and thorough docuseries that not only informs the viewer of this collectively forgotten tragedy, but also honors its victims – both victims from May of 1927 and those in the decades to come, as profound trauma such as this reverberates through generations.”

Amie Jones

Author, The Forgotten Children of Bath

“They know how to cut film! I like the mosaic approach to the story, letting it develop through multiple threads and points of view. And a nice mix of witnesses, descendants, and talking head experts.”

Arnie Bernstein

Author, Bath Massacre: America’s First School Bombing

COVER ARTWORK:

BEHIND THE SCENES:

CONTACT:

INFO@AHPTIC.COM

AHPTIC PRODUCTIONS LLC

WWW.THESILENCEBENEATH.COM

The background of the image is a dark, monochromatic underwater scene. It features jagged, rocky terrain in the foreground and middle ground, with a faint, hazy light source visible in the distance, creating a sense of depth and mystery. The overall color palette is dark teal and grey.

THE SILENCE BENEATH